A Prayer Poem for FAMILY

Loving Father, hear our pleas,
Bless our home and family.
Grant us wisdom, strength, and grace,
Keep us safe in Your embrace.

In our laughter and our tears,
Guide us through the coming years.
May our hearts be filled with love,
Blessings from Your hand above.

Teach us kindness, teach us peace,
From Your care, we find release.
Thank You for this gift so dear,
Family close, always near.
Amen.

Walking On Water

For many people the notion of walking on water is foolish. But for those who believe in God, the idea is not only conceivable, it's routine. We serve a God that makes the miraculous seem ordinary.

Christ used miracles for two reasons. First, He used them to capture the attention of His followers, and to remind them of His power. Jesus illustrated His power over sickness, death, life and the earth. The second reason He worked miracles was to illustrate the power that the believers themselves had. Christ wanted believers to know that His power was in fact theirs.

Christ walked on water and transferred His power to Peter. As long as Peter kept His eyes on Jesus, he could do the impossible. As soon as he took his eyes off the Master he began to sink. Walking on water is just one of the many ways believers can overcome the impossibilities of the world. Walking on water really is a metaphor for the vast and diverse miracles God works every day. He grants one healing, to another He delivers from peril, and still another life everlasting. In other words, there is someone walking on water every day. "And people wonder why believers shout!"

Prayer For Today

Gracious God, we stand in wonder of Your ability to walk on water.
You work the miraculous every day.
Help us to keep our eyes on You, that we too may do the impossible.
Amen

The Word for Today

*"And He said, Come. And when Peter was come down out of the ship,
He walked on the water, to go to Jesus"*
Matthew 14:29

Hemochromatosis

Hemochromatosis is a type of iron overload disease that's caused by a gene change passed down in families. Iron overload disease is any condition that causes the body to hold onto too much iron. Iron overload diseases include the following:

- Hemochromatosis, also called primary or hereditary hemochromatosis, is the most common iron overload disease. It is a genetic condition that triggers the intestines to absorb too much iron from food. The excess iron is stored in the organs, especially the liver, heart and pancreas. Too much iron can damage the organs and lead to life-threatening conditions, such as liver disease, heart conditions and diabetes.

Families of Northern European descent have a higher genetic risk of hereditary hemochromatosis when both parents carry the gene change, also called a gene mutation. Only a few people who have the gene mutation ever develop serious complications.

- Secondary iron overload, sometimes called secondary hemochromatosis, is not passed on in families. It can be caused by another condition that causes the intestines to absorb too much iron, such as liver disease or too much alcohol. Or it can happen when you get too much iron, such as from too many blood transfusions. Over time, secondary iron overload can damage organs too.

Hemochromatosis is different from hemosiderosis. Hemosiderosis means iron has started to collect in body tissues but hasn't yet caused organ damage. These conditions also are different from simply having high iron. "High iron" is a term that usually refers to a blood test showing higher than typical iron levels. But that doesn't necessarily mean iron has built up in the organs.

Treatment for hemochromatosis usually includes removing blood from the body on a regular basis. This lowers iron levels because much of the body's iron is contained in red blood cells.

Joy to the World

"When Joy is a habit, love is a reflex."
Bob Goff

This world is filled with a trove of all things good and great, as well as bad and painful.

The thing that will help us wade through each and every endeavor is joy. Holding onto joy in each and every circumstance, knowing that the darkness will pass – and in most cases make us stronger, better, more complete -can lead to our greatest victories.

"Things won are done, joy's soul lies in the doing."
William Shakespeare

If you are in the dark times now, know the morning is coming. Know that better is ahead. It can't rain all the time. The flowers need time to grow. And darkness is simply the absence of light, so it's up to us to bring the light into those dark rooms.

"Find joy in everything you choose to do. Every job, relationship, home ... it's your responsibility to love it or change it."
Chuck Palahniuk

Today is the day you allow joy to be your continual habit in everything you do. Because each day we are allowed to choose – darkness or light. So, starting today, let joy lead your steps. When you do, you will find love and happiness bringing light to the places that formerly were so filled with darkness.

Keep going.

Blessings ahead.

STEWARDSHIP

Managing God's Gifts To Us

Seven Marks Of A Good Steward

Larry Burkett once said, "The one principle that surrounds everything else is that of Stewardship; that we are managers of everything that God has given us." These words remind us that stewardship is not just about money or tithing – it's about faithfully managing everything God has entrusted to us.

As believers, we're called to be stewards because God created and owns everything. Our role is to manage His resource wisely for His purposes. But how can we know if we're fulfilling this calling? To guide our journey of faithfulness, let's explore the seven marks of a good steward.

1. Acknowledging God's Ownership – good stewards recognize that everything belongs to God, including their resources, skills, and abilities. They understand they're temporary managers entrusted with God's gifts for His purposes: Scripture to Reflect On: "You shall remember the Lord your God, for it is He who gives you power to get wealth." (Deuteronomy 8:18)
2. Understanding Their Mission – Good stewards grasp the significance of their role in God's plan. They take their responsibilities seriously but approach them with humility, knowing they're part of something greater than themselves. Scripture to Reflect On: "Commit your work to the Lord, and your plans will be established." (Proverbs 16:3)
3. Faithfulness in Action – faithfulness is at the heart of stewardship. This includes following God's financial principles: earning, saving, investing, and, most importantly, giving. Faithful stewards persevere, trusting that God will honor their obedience. Scripture to Reflect On: "Whoever can be trusted with very little can also be trusted with much." (Luke 16:10).
4. Trustworthiness – good stewards are honest and trustworthy in all they do. Integrity builds a foundation for effective stewardship, honor God, and earning the trust of others. Scripture to Reflect On: "Moreover, it is required of stewards that they be found faithful." 1 Corinthians 4:2
5. Diligence in Their Work – stewards are diligent, actively using what God has given them rather than neglecting or mismanaging it. They commit to working as if serving the Lord in all they do. Scripture to Reflect On: "Whatever you do, work heartily, as for the Lord and not for men." (Colossians 3:23)
6. Prayerful Dependence – good stewards seek God's guidance through prayer, trusting in His wisdom and provision. Prayer frees them from anxiety and anchors them in God's peace. Scripture to Reflect On: "Do not be anxious about anything, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made know to God." (Philippians 4:6)
7. Spirit-Led Action – finally, good stewards act when the Holy Spirit leads, preparing their minds and hearts for action and living in obedience to God's will. Scripture to Reflect On: "Preparing Your minds for action, and being sober-minded, set your hope fully on the grace that will be brought to you." (1 Peter 1:13)

Dependence on God's Grace. These seven characteristics set a high standard, reminding us that stewardship is more about faithfulness than perfection. We can't meet these marks in our own strength. Instead, we depend on God's grace and the power of the Holy Spirit to walk in obedience. Let's commit to being faithful stewards, trusting that God will equip us for the journey. As 1 Corinthians 4:2 reminds us, "Those who have been given a trust must prove faithful." May we glorify God in all we do, managing His gifts with care and purpose.

MEMBER HIGHLIGHTS

St. Petersburg District Church School Convention Highlights

Congratulations to our youth for their accomplishments at our recent St. Petersburg District Church School Convention. Our youth attended, enjoyed participating in the services and activities, and walked away with top awards. This year's event, held in St. Petersburg, FL at John Hopkins Middle School, was under the leadership of Dr. Markus-Devin White, the District's Director of The Board of Christian Education, and Presiding Elder David Green, Sr. and Consultant Kimberly C. Green. This year's theme was HEADING IN A NEW DIRECTION.
